

EDITORIAL HIGHLIGHTS:

- Focus on Workforce: National Top 20 Teleconference
 For the first time, ENR is convening a panel of expert judges to choose a national Top 20 Under 40. After selection, we will host a video webcast interviewing the Top 20 about the issues facing the industry they are poised to lead in the future. A special report in print and online will explore their views, and a video about the group will capture their personalities as well.
- Contractor Business Strategy
 A profile story on Freestone Aquatics, a specialty contracting company based in Littleton, Colo., that does aquatic habitat design and restoration and wetlands permitting. Launched in 2008, one of the firm's first projects was a high-profile restoration in New Mexico, repairing a section of the San Juan River below Navajo Dam. It is regularly called on handle difficult stream restorations and the repair of sensitive wetlands.

ENR Southwest

- ENR Southwest Best Projects
 ENR's Regional Best Projects competition recognizes excellence during the entire project cycle, from planning to design and construction. Our panel of industry judges are choosing the winners in categories as diverse as civil, retail and green projects. Regional winners automatically advance into the national ENR Best of the Best Projects program, which will be judged and then published in the first quarter of 2018.
- ENR Southwest Project of the Year
 Industry judges select one project from among the Best Projects winners that represents the pinnacle of design and construction achievement within that region in the past year.
